

Don't implement any proposal to lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law. Indiana's law has effectively reduced the endless stream of sales calls that were invading my privacy. We can now eat dinner as a family without an endless stream of unwanted calls. We can now use our answering machine to capture messages from those we want to hear from rather than having it fill up with sales messages we don't want to hear. I buy the phone equipment, I buy the phone service, why shouldn't I have the option of blocking calls from those I don't want to hear from? Leave the decision in the hands of the people and the local states -- we don't need federal intervention for something like this!
